Compared to last week: all weight class averages of feeder steers and heifers ended fully $8 to $10 Lower with certain class instances up to $15 lower

Slaughter cows finished firm to $2 lower while the slaughter bulls showed to be $3 off

Last Saturday's fire at the Tyson slaughter plant in Holcomb, Kansas shut the plant down and Has have completely placed the ax in the packer's hands. Live cattle contracts have lost $9 in the last two days and feeder contracts have plummeted over $11 cwt. Fear that a buildup of market-ready fat cattle due to the now lower industry processing capacity will allow the packers to drive prices down is well represented in the imploding of the futures contracts.
