Compared to last week's market: all weight class price averages ended fully $4 to $6 higher. Slaughter cows trended $3 lower while the slaughter bulls finished $4 weaker. The past several days weaker board closings have shown no affect on feeder calf prices as buyers scrambled to fill orders in front of next week being the final week of auction markets across the country. Packing plants apparently have quite a lot of holiday inventory built up as prices weakened. Going into the final week prices are showing strength.

NEXT WEEK, DECEMBER 17th WILL BE OUR FINAL SALE OF THE YEAR FOR 2019
