Compared to last week: all weight class averages of both feeder steers and heifers ended fully $3 to $5 lower with some plainer, hard to place calves up to $7 lower. Slaughter cows weakened to $3 lower while the slaughter bulls finished off about $5 lower.

Positive news that weekly slaughter rates are continuing to move up have been overshadowed by the recent US and China souring relations. Today's dismal board closing gives witness to this as the US trade agreement with China is showing signs of strain.

Uncertainty in fed cattle market is pressuring the heavy feeder steers and heifers. Operators turning out light weight calves have more time for the economy to recover. Time is the friend of those with grazing cattle and the enemy of those feeding cattle.
