

September 2017

Hello again from the Kimble County extension office. Since we last spoke many things have taken place within our great state. The Devastation of Harvey continues to unfold daily and I would ask you to please keep those affected in your prayers. The Texas A&M AgriLife Extension service has set up supply points across the state to help distribute feed and essentials to those in need. Each agent has been called upon to serve and I will have to be absent from the county at some time to help run one of these supply points.

On the educational side of things we are looking forward to our 3 part online CEU lunch series program. By the time you read this newsletter we may have already had the event; if not I would encourage you to attend. It will be held September 12, 13, and 14th upstairs in the courthouse from 12:00 to 1:00 pm each day. Lunch will be provided each day as well. Please call our office for more information.

Lastly, we have been working on a partnership event with Texas Tech University/Junction, Texas Well Owner Network, and Jerry Kirby, of the Kimble County Groundwater Conservation District to bring you a water well testing and education program. This program will be held October 3rd at the Texas Tech Junction Center from 1:00 to 5:00 pm. Be looking for more information soon to come. This will be a great program for those of you that have private water wells. Please contact our offices anytime and stay safe!

Remember if you ever have any questions please feel free to stop by or call the office anytime!
